Welcome

Salutations of the Mayor of Unterföhring

It is a great honour for our community to host the European Seniors Bowling Championships 2013 in Unterföhring at Dream-Bowl Palace. We would like to welcome all athletes, their relatives, all officials and guests.

Unterföhring is a municipality north of Munich which has more than 10,000 inhabitants and about 16,000 people work here in large and well known companies in such areas as insurance, media and information technology firms. A large number of middle sized enterprises complete the well grown area.

Many clubs and organizations are implemented in the community life and we are very happy that bowling at such a high level has been established and has become part of the community. After having hosted bowlers from all around the world already in 2010 and 2011, we are looking forward to proving our hospitality again to bowlers from all over Europe, their relatives and all guests.

In the name of the municipality of Unterföhring, and personally, I would like to wish the competitors of the European Seniors Bowling Championships and all guests and friends a lot of fun, a nice stay, a fair competition and may the event run smoothly.

May the best win.

Best sporting wishes,

Franz Schwarz

Welcome

Salutations of the Mayor of Brunnthal

It is a special pleasure and a great honour to welcome you as competitors of the European Seniors Championships 2013 in the Max Munich bowling centre in Brunnthal.

Since the opening of the bowling centre back in 2010 in Brunnthal-North many residents of Brunnthal became enthusiastic bowlers. At that time I was not aware that this new bowling centre might become a venue of European Championships in bowling.

The Max Munich bowling centre in Brunnthal surely is a good frame for these Championship competitions and we in Brunnthal are proud to be one of the hosts of these European Championships.

Intensive training, discipline and the willingness to go for a worthy goal, even if it is a lot of hard work, are the premises of all sports. You need talent and flair, but what you need on top of this is the ability to make something out of it.

To become successful you need to perform your best; to become successful you need the ambition to get to the top and to stand on the podium.

This is why I wish all competitors, friends of bowling and guests thrilling moments of competition and sportive success.

May the European Seniors Bowling Championships 2013 become a fair and smoothly running event!

Welcome

Message from the ETBF President

The delegates of the ESBC member federations have to take a decision in Sweden where the next ESBC championships in 2013 will be held.

May I take the liberty to advise you?

As you might know I have seen in all those years as president of the European Tenpin Bowling Federations a lot of bowling centers and a lot of organizers.

What is there to say about Dream Bowl Palace in Unterföhring, Germany? Just this: a 52 lane dream!

How about Max Bowling with its 30 lanes? Just have a look there and you will be surprised.

Ladies and gentlemen, may I strongly advise you to vote for the German Bowling Federation (DBU) to be the organizers of the next ESBC Championships in 2013. They have the knowledge and the experience.

May I hope for a wise decision?

With kind regards

A. A. Th. Ophelders

Message from the ESBC Presidium

Dear bowling friends,

As president I would like to write some words for the bid book of the 22nd European Senior Bowlers Championships in München.

The first thing that comes to my mind and in our country is when you hear the name München, you immediately think about the big beer festivals and the carnival in München. So it is a great pleasure to visit this town.

München is a beautiful town in the south of Germany. It is certainly a town you must visit once in your life. Wonderful buildings, good shopping and very friendly people and you can play ten pin bowling in a new and big bowling centre with great facilities.

For ESBC it will be the second time we visit Germany. The first time was Hamburg in the North, now we go to the South with a totally other landscape.

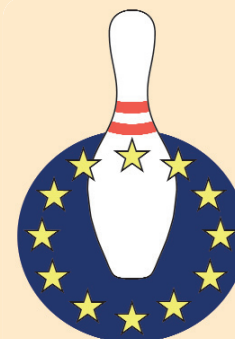

München has two new and big bowling centres to host the championships and there are more than enough hotels in and around the city.

I want to thank the organizing committee in advance for their hard work and many hours they spend to organize these championships. The ESBC presidium has visited München in March 2012 and we are sure all will be according to the needed standard for the championships. I heard the Victory banquet will take place in a special location.

The ESBC presidium and I hope you will visit the 22nd European Senior Bowlers Championships in Munich, Germany 2012!

Best regards,

Paul Dow

Welcome

Greetings from the President of the German Bowling Federation

It is a tremendous pleasure for me and the entire Board of Directors of the German Bowling Federation to welcome all senior bowlers from over 40 countries here in the Munich metropolitan area for the European Seniors Bowling Championships.

This is one of the largest events in the sport of bowling with nearly 1,000 senior bowlers participating.

We will do everything possible to ensure that the participants bowling at Dream Bowl Palace in Unterföhring and MAX Munich Bowling in Brunnthal will feel at home and enjoy a fair competition.

Our organization team and the many spectators expected to watch the Championship are looking forward to seeing the best female and male senior bowlers from across Europe.

I wish all athletes, officials and guests a pleasant stay.

Munich Information

Munich is the capital city of Bavaria, Germany. It is located on the River Isar north of the Bavarian Alps.

Munich is the third largest city in Germany, after Berlin and Hamburg. There are approximately 1,35 million people living within city limits, while the Munich Metropolitan Area (including the urban areas of Augsburg, Ingolstadt, Rosenheim and Landshut) is home to over 5 million people.

Its native name, München, is derived from the Old German word Mönche, meaning »Monks«. The city's name derives from the monks of the Benedictine order who founded the city; hence the monk depicted on the city's coat of arms. Black and gold – the colours of the Holy Roman Empire – have been the city's official colours since the time of Ludwig the Bavarian.

The city of Munich has a lot attractions to offer for all ages and tastes. Whether you are interested in history, architecture or art; whether you enjoy strolling through parks, fancy attractions like a trip to the Bavaria film studios, guided tours or long for a visit to one of Munich's famous traditional beer gardens, you'll always find something exciting in this multi-faceted city.

Isartor in the east, the Sendlinger Tor in the south and the Karlstor in the west of the inner city. The Karlstor leads up to the Stachus, a grand square dominated by the Justizpalast (Palace of Justice) and a fountain.

The Frauenkirche is the most famous building in the city centre and serves as the cathedral for the Archdiocese of Munich and Freising.

ders of Bavaria's royal past. Schloss Nymphenburg (Nymphenburg Palace), some 6 km north west of the city centre, is surrounded by an impressive park and is considered to be one of Europe's most beautiful royal residences.

Especially in its suburbs, Munich features a wide and diverse array of modern architecture, although strict culturally sensitive height limitations for buildings have limited the construction of skyscrapers to avoid a loss of views to the distant Bavarian Alps. Most highrise buildings are clustered at the northern edge of Munich in the skyline, like the Hypo-Haus, the Arabella High-Rise Building, the Highlight Towers, Uptown Munich, Münchner Tor and the BMW Headquarters.

Experience innovations right in front of your eyes

Since 2007 automobile enthusiasts have had a new place to go to in Munich: the BMW Welt Munich. Next to the Olympic Park and the BMW Museum, it stands out in the shape of a double-cone and offers visitors the chance to experience the BMW brand with all their senses. Even complex developments are presented here on two levels in a simple way that everyone.

The large Residenz palace complex (begun in 1385) on the edge of Munich's Old Town ranks among Europe's most significant museums of interior decoration. Next door to the Residenz the neo-classical opera, the National Theatre was erected.

popular open air market. A walk across the »Victuals Market« can be a sensual revelation. Stalls not only offer the freshest fruits and vegetables in Munich, but traditional Bavarian Schweinshax'n and Speck, sea food, delicious cheeses from all over Europe, herbs, honey products, sushi and hand-made straw puppets are also for sale. For all those who appreciate culinary seduction of the senses, this is the perfect place to spend your lunch break, get inspired for new creations, and buy those rare and special herbs and spices that can't be found anywhere else in the region.

Munich is home to several professional football teams, including FC Bayern which is Germany's most popular and successful club. The Munich area currently has three teams in the Bundesliga system (FC Bayern, TSV 1860 and SpVgg Unterhaching), which comprises the three top divisions of German football.

Munich has also hosted the 1972 Summer Olympics and was one of the host cities for the 2006 Football World Cup which was not held in Munich's Olympic Stadium but in a new football specific stadium, the Allianz Arena.

Hofbräuhaus and Oktoberfest

The Hofbräuhaus am Platzl, arguably the most famous beer hall worldwide, is located in the city centre. It also operates the second largest tent at the Oktoberfest, one of Munich's most famous attractions. For two weeks, the Oktoberfest attracts millions of people visiting its beer tents (»Bierzelte«) and fairground attractions.

Munich specialities

Weisswürste with süsser Senf (sweet mustard) and a Brezn (pretzel). The Weisswürste (,white sausages') are a Munich speciality. Traditionally eaten only before 12:00 noon – a tradition dating to a time before refrigerators – these morsels are often served with sweet mustard and freshly baked pretzels. Leberkäs, Bavarian baked sausage loaf, often served with potato salad, is another delicacy. The most famous soup might be the Leberknödel Soup. Leberknödel is a bread dumpling seasoned with liver and onions. Schweinsbraten (pot roasted pork) with Knödel (dumplings made from potatoes and/or white bread) and Kraut (cabbage) or a Schweinshaxe (pork knuckle) are served as lunch or dinner. Beuscherl, a plate of lung, heart and spleen is also served with dumplings. Popular as dessert is the Apfelstrudel (apple) strudel with vanilla sauce, the Millirahmstrudel a cream cheese strudel, Dampfnudeln (yeast dumplings served with custard) or Auszogene, a fried pastry shaped like a large donut but without a hole. And there is also the famous Prinzregententorte created in honour of the prince regent Luitpold.

Some specialities are typical cold dishes served in beergardens: Obatzda is a Bavarian cheese delicacy, a savoury blend of smashed mellow camembert prepared with cream cheese, cut onions and spicy paprika (and sometimes some butter). It's often served in the beer gardens along with Radi, white radish cut in thin slices and salted. Popular grilled meals include Steckerlfisch which is a local fish, such as trout or whitefish, speared on a wooden stick, grilled and smoked on charcoal – the typical feature is the crispy skin. Another classic is a hoibs Hendl (half a grilled chicken). A Mass (die Maß) is a litre of beer, a Radler consists of half beer and half lemonade.
